By Rhonda Thacker Holton*

Funeral services for Orlo Goodrich were held Saturday, March 12, in the Vernal, Utah Uintah Stake Center. Bishop Haslem of the Naples First Ward conducted the services. Craig Calder offered the family prayer prior to services.

The prelude and postlude music was played by Marilyn Smith. Robert Ellsworth offered the invocation, and Norman Haslem, Mac Holmes, C. Ramon Luekenga and James Richardson sang, "I Believe In Christ," accompanied by Ada Openshaw. Bishop Norman Haslem read an obituary followed by President Mac Holmes speaking.

Marquita Gerber played a piano solo, "O Divine Redeemer," Kathleen Calder then gave some remarks followed by President Glenn B. Goodrich who spoke. The vocal quartet then sang, "A Poor Wayfaring Man of Grief." The benediction was offered by Ronald Smith.

Interment was in the Vernal Memorial Park. Pallbearers were: Robert Ellsworth, Craig Calder, Earl Goodrich, Ronald White, Brook White, Wayne Goodrich and Frank L. Gardiner gave the dedicatory prayer.

Naples First Ward Relief Society was in charge of the floral arrangements and the luncheon at the Naples First Ward Chapel.

Funeral services were under the direction of MacKay Cottonwood Mortuary and William K. Jolley Funeral Home.

Orlo Goodrich was the son of Violet Mary Starkie and Byron Goodrich. He married Mable Gardiner April 10, 1939 in Salt Lake City, Utah. They had four children.
